Прекрасный визуальный игрок.Q: How to dispose the UI thread object when done using EF? I am using EF for Insert,Update and Delete for a table.When the entity passed in Context.MyEntityType is updated/inserted/deleted - I need to call the Dispose() on the Context instance.At present i am doing this in the Dispose Method - public void Dispose() { if (Context!= null) { Context.Dispose(); Context = null; } } This method is being called in the finalizer of the Context. But it occurs a problem when there are two different threads that are accessing the context. If Dispose() is called - the finalizer is not called on the other thread. In this scenario - I must have to manually call the Dispose() before continuing.How to do this? Or will this be a problem in the long run? A: Instead of having the whole entity passed in the finalizer (where already the finalizer won't be called) you could have it passed as a parameter. You would then call the finalizer in the "main" thread. For example: Dispose(Context.MyEntityType); and then void Dispose(T entity) { if (Context!= null) Context.Dispose(); if (entity!= null) entity.Dispose(); } However, it is also a good idea to dispose the context after an operation, e.g. using (var context = new MyDbContext()) { context.My
